

Evan Rush is the Southern Nevada Outreach Director for the Nevada Department of Veterans Services. He oversees community outreach efforts in southern Nevada and participates in community groups and professional organizations. In addition, Evan manages and supports the Nevada Veteran Advocate (NVA) volunteers within his area of responsibility.

Evan spent twenty years in the US Navy, retiring as a Chief Petty Officer. He brings vast experience in connecting veterans to needed services and maintains a strong background in helping veterans with disabilities. Evan most recently served as a Disabled Veteran Outreach Program (DVOP) specialist for the Department of Education, Training, and Rehabilitation (DETR) in Las Vegas. He also managed the Combat Stress Recovery Program (CSRP) for the Wounded Warrior Project (WWP) in Seattle, WA, and Honolulu, HI.